

COUNTRY FACTSHEET: CZECH REPUBLIC 2016

EUROPEAN MIGRATION NETWORK

1. Introduction

This EMN Country Factsheet provides a factual overview of the main policy developments in migration and international protection in the Czech Republic during 2016, including latest statistics.

2. International Protection including Asylum

In 2016, the situation in the field of asylum was stable in the Czech Republic. Only minor policy developments were reported in 2016. These included, amongst others, the approval of the proposed amendment of the Asylum Act in December, which contains in particular technical changes in the proceedings.

Amendments to legislation on Asylum and on the Residence of Foreign Nationals in the Territory of the Czech Republic adopted at the end of 2015 have granted earlier access to the labour market for all those applying for asylum. After the first six months of the asylum procedure an applicant can apply for a work permit at the relevant Labour Office.

Regarding relocation and resettlement activities, based on Council Conclusions 2015/1523 and 2015/1601, 12 Syrian nationals (3 families) were relocated in 2016 from Greece to the Czech Republic.

Within the national Humanitarian Admission Programme, 57 Iraqi nationals from Kurdistan (Iraq) were admitted to the Czech Republic – 30 of these eventually withdrew their request and returned to Iraq.

In 2016, 32 Iraqi nationals were resettled from Lebanon to the Czech Republic in the framework of the European Resettlement Scheme. However, 25 of those being resettled absconded and left the Czech Republic for Germany less than two months after being granted international protection in the Czech Republic.

The Czech Republic also provided financial assistance to Bulgaria and Greece to support their asylum systems. The financial support which was donated to the Bulgarian government was aimed at strengthening the border management system (especially with Turkey and Serbia), and its asylum and migration systems. Financial support for Greece was aimed at supporting the management of migration flows, the humanitarian situation as well as border protection.

On 6th May 2016, the Supreme Administrative Court decided in judgement 10 Azs 256 / 2015-55 that the detention of a foreigner for the purpose of his transfer to another EU Member State according to Art. 28 of Regulation No. 604/2013 is not possible if there is an absence of real assumption of achieving the purpose of detention. In other words, the detention of an individual is not possible if he/she will not be transferred to another EU Member State within the deadlines.

The judgment of the Supreme Administrative Court of the Czech Republic regarding systemic flaws in the asylum procedure in Hungary had a significant impact on national practice. No transfer to Hungary has taken place since.

In 2016, the conditions in detention facilities for families with minors were further improved beyond the necessary standards needed by law. For example, the bars in the windows and inner fences have been removed.

A new facility for detention of foreign nationals in Balková has been opened. Another facility in Drahonice was closed (opened in 2015).

3. Unaccompanied Minors and other Vulnerable Groups

In 2016, the new working methodology with vulnerable groups within all types of facilities of the Refugee Facilities Administration was developed and is expected to be implemented as of 2017.

The new care system concerning Unaccompanied Minors (UAMs) introduced in 2015 was elaborated and implemented in 2016. New workplaces which are dedicated for long-term care for UAMs were established under the methodological guidance of the Facility. 43 UAMs from third countries (41 boys and 2 girls) were received at the Facility during 2016. Most of these were older than 15 years and came from Afghanistan.

The Programme of Humanitarian Evacuations of Inhabitants with Health Issues (MEDEVAC) was continued in 2016. The programme was implemented in various countries including Jordan, the Iraqi Region of Kurdistan, Ukraine, Cambodia, Kenya, Morocco and Nepal- and included the deployment of medical teams, humanitarian evacuations and internship possibilities for medical staff from areas affected by humanitarian crisis.

4. Legal migration and mobility

4.1. ECONOMIC MIGRATION

Work on the amendment to the Act on the Residence of Foreign Nationals in the Territory of the Czech Republic implementing the Seasonal Workers (2014/36/EU) and the Intra-Corporate Transfers (2014/66/EU) Directives, was completed in 2016. The proposal was assessed and approved by the Government and submitted to Parliament at the end of 2016. Legal changes entered into force in 2017. The amendment also regulates the rules on the entry and residence of foreign nationals for business purposes, includes an adjustment aimed at strengthening the security features of the migration process and also specifies the arrangements for the residence of a family member of EU citizens in order to better comply with the Family Reunification Directive (2004/38/EC).

Among others, the new legislation defines covert brokering of employment (temporary assignment of workers to other companies for remuneration which is done outside the legal framework of employment brokering) and introduces the concept of “unreliable employer” who would not be allowed to employ third-country nationals. Inter alia, it also allows the suspension of the residence permit procedure if the foreign national does not show up at the procedure without a serious reason, tells lies, or submits forged documents.

The project “Special Regime for Qualified Employees from Ukraine” was launched in August 2016. It aimed to tackle labour market shortages by increasing the number of applicants for an Employee Card (long-term residence permit) admitted monthly to the Consulate General in Lviv, Ukraine – approximately three times. The Ukrainian applicants in the scheme are a targeted selection of employees of specific Czech employers (national commerce chambers and associations). Such companies are required to meet criteria which were set in order to prevent potential misuse or abuse of the scheme and mismatch of vacancies and migrants.

4.2. FAMILY REUNIFICATION

No developments were reported in 2016.

4.3. MANAGING MIGRATION AND MOBILITY¹

During 2016, the abuse of visa-free travel of citizens of Republic of Moldova was detected. The phenomenon will be further investigated.

In 2016, the Visa Information System fully functioned in all CZ visa-issuing consulates. The System was launched in October 2011 in countries of northern Africa and since then has been expanded in other world regions. All the embassies of the Czech Republic/Schengen area issuing visas are involved in the Visa Information System. In 2016 the process of expansion was finished by launching it at the external borders.

On 17th June, the new Act on Control of the State Border of the Czech Republic (No. 191/2016) was published in the Collection of Laws of the Czech Republic. The Act came into force on 1st August 2016 aiming at making the legal regulation more intelligible, modern and fully adapted to the stable and long-term involvement of the Czech Republic and the neighbouring states in the Schengen cooperation.

5. Integration

On 1st January 2016, a new “State Integration Programme” (SIP) for persons with granted international protection came into force. In February 2016, the Interior Ministry concluded a one-year contract with a general provider of integration services responsible for the provision of integration services to authorised persons within the Programme in the field of housing, employment, health and education including enhancement of the language skills.

As it was defined in the Government Resolution “Policy for the Integration of Foreign Nationals - In Mutual Respect” (updated and valid since 2016), some integration measures focused on the groups of foreigners with specific needs (female, children and seniors).

With the aim of focusing on ‘local’ integration, the Ministry supported the regional Foreign Nationals Integration Support Centres which are operating in 13 out of 14 regions of the Czech Republic. In 2016, the Centres were the hubs of integration activities in each region, they were providing information for immigrants and the majority, incl. the public administration authorities.

The Ministry of the Interior also provided support through financing projects of the municipalities to support the integration of foreign nationals. The goal of these projects is to support and encourage the municipalities to create their own integration strategy based on their knowledge of the local environment. In 2016, these projects were implemented in 15 municipalities (5 more than in 2015).

In 2016, the Ministry of the Interior, in cooperation with other responsible departments, academia and experts developed the 'National Security Audit' which analyses and evaluates real preparedness of the Czech Republic to face both traditional and emerging security threats. The unsuccessful integration of migrants was identified as one such threat.

6. External Dimension of EU Migration Policy

In 2016, the Government increased assistance under the Ministry of the Interior's Programme to assist refugees in regions of origin and prevent large migratory movements to CZK 150 million (approx. 5.8 million EUR). Complementary to providing humanitarian aid abroad, aid and support under the authority of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs is directed mainly to third countries with a view to providing direct support to refugees on the one hand and supporting capacity building in the area of refugee and migrant host countries on the other.

With regard to remittances, an amendment to the Act on Payments, which transposes the Payment Account Directive (PAD) became law in 2016. This foresees that credit institutions in the Czech Republic are obliged to offer basic payment account and enable transfer of payment accounts from one payment service provider to another.

7. Irregular Migration and Return

7.1. THE FIGHT AGAINST FACILITATION OF IRREGULAR MIGRATION

The "National Centre for Checking Documents" was established on 1st January 2016 under the responsibility of the Directorate of Alien Police Service. The new centre focuses on the field of forged documents, but also on irregular migration. Thus its aim is to centrally compile fake, forged, found and sent documents of all types, but also to analyse the database, disseminate the information, follow and discuss the current trends, cooperate with other police units in the Member State and at international level, as well as propose legal amendments concerning travel documents.

2016 saw an increase of 15.8% in the number of persons using false travel documents (271 cases in total) compared to 2015. The persons identified were mostly Ukrainians followed by Moldovans. There has been a decrease in the number of false Albanian documents and Syrian passports.

Overall in 2016, a total of 51 passengers used a false travel document while crossing the external Schengen border. This represents a 27.1% decrease in comparison to 2015.

The Czech Republic took part in the "Operational Action Plan (OAP) 2016" by means of the European multidisciplinary platform against criminal threats (EMPACT) project of illegal migration as well as by the EMPACT project of Trafficking in Human Beings (THB)

In 2016, the Police of the Czech Republic deployed a total of 339 police officers to Hungary, Slovenia, FYROM and Serbia. The main tasks of the Police contingents in these countries were border surveillance, public order surveillance, and security and vehicle checks.

7.2. RETURN OF IRREGULAR MIGRANTS

During 2016, a Voluntary Return Unit was established within the Department for Asylum and Migration Policy of the Ministry of the Interior. The Unit is now responsible for the harmonisation of the common return policy in the area of voluntary returns.

In 2016, the Czech Republic supported the operational activities of Frontex through the deployment 23 team members to Italy and 87 to Greece. Furthermore, 11 team members were deployed to Serbia and 29 to Bulgaria.

8. Actions against Trafficking in Human Beings

The 2016-2019 National strategy to combat THB in the Czech Republic was approved by the Government in April 2016. An increased effort will be directed to children, migrants and people from socially excluded localities.

In 2016, an increase in cases of exploitative sham marriages was reported by the Police. As in the previous years, the numbers of victims being EU citizens are increasing compared to third country nationals.
